MEA denies reports of USAID funding Indian voter turnout

JAY MAZOOMDAAR
NEW DELHI, AUGUST 21

The MEA sought urgent USAID funding and expenditure data for last 10 years from the embassy

CONTRARY TO THE claim made by the US Department of Government Efficiency (DOGE) and President Donald Trump, the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) did not provide funding of $21 million for "voter turnout" in India, the Ministry of External Affairs told Rajya Sabha Thursday, citing communications with the US embassy.

On February 21, The Indian Express reported that the $21-million aid for "voter turnout" did not come to India but went to Bangladesh in July 2022 for USAID's Amar Vote Amar (My Vote is Mine) project.

On February 16, the DOGE announced it had "cancelled," nor among a string of USAID funds awarded to the Consortium for Elections and Political Process Strengthening (CEPPS), a grant of $21 million for voter turnout in India.

Citing US embassy, Govt confirms: No $21-mn USAID poll grant in India on multiple occasions, and the ruling BJP accused the Opposition Congress of using alleged external influence in India's election process.

Until The Indian Express reported on February 21 how they all jumped the gun.

According to a written reply in Rajya Sabha Thursday, the MEA requested the US Embassy on February 28 to "urgently furnish details of expenditure incurred on all USAID-assisted/funded projects in India over the last ten years".

According to the MEA, the US Embassy shared USAID's India funding data for 2014-2024 on July 2, maintaining that "USAID/India did not receive or provide funding of $21 million for voter turnout in India from fiscal years 2014 to 2024, nor has it implemented any voter turnout-related activities in India."

At the centre of the dispute were two USAID grants on DOGE's list that were channelled via the CEPPS, a group based in Washington, DC, which specialises in "complex democracy, rights and governance programming".

CEPPS was meant to receive a total of $486 million from USAID. This corpus included, as per DOGE's claim, $22 million for "inclusive and participatory political process" in Moldova; and $21 million for "voter turnout in India".

The first was awarded to CEPPS in September 2016 to "promote" an "inclusive and participatory political process" in Moldova. With Federal Award Identification Number AID117LA1600001 (an ID specific to the grant).

The second grant of $21 million, records accessed by The Indian Express showed, was sanctioned – with Federal Award Identification Number 7203822LA00001 – in July 2022 for USAID's Amar Vote Amar (My Vote is Mine) project in Bangladesh, not India.

Of this, a sizable chunk was already disbursed, ostensibly for "political and civic engagement" among Bangladeshi students in the run-up to the January 2024 elections and projects that put a question mark on the integrity of these elections – seven months before the ouster of Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina.

In its reply in Rajya Sabha, the MEA also said that the US embassy subsequently communicated on July 29 that it plans to bring all USAID operations to a close by August 15, 2025.

This was reiterated on August 11 when the embassy wrote to the Department of Economic Affairs, conveying that all seven Partnership Agreements with the Government of India would also stand closed with effect from August 15.

THE COUNCIL WILL likely meet next month to consider the proposals threadbare in time for the new rates takes effect much before Diwali (October 20).

Supporting the "pro-people proposals," West Bengal finance minister Chandrima Bhattacharya said the Centre should also tell the states about the likely revenue losses and how these would be compensated.

"We have no problem with pro-people proposals. We also have to think of how to recoup the losses. The Centre must quantify whatever losses are due to the rate reductions," she said. Bhattacharya added that GoM did not take up item-wise discussion, as this could rather be done by the Council.

The Centre's proposed GST reforms with a two-tier structure may lead to a ₹60,000 crore annualised revenue loss, officials had told FE earlier, but they added that the actual impact could be short-lived as rate cuts boost consumption and compliance. Also, the central government has indicated about a special impost on sin items like tobacco, so that the tax incidence on them is unchanged. Arbind Modi, noted tax expert, said: "The general principle is that excise duty should reflect the full cost of negative externalities."

SBI Research, in a report, said it expects a revenue loss of around ₹1.1 lakh crore in one scenario and around ₹60,000 crore in another scenario per annum due to GST rationalisation. Thus, the average revenue loss is at ₹85,000 crore, it said.

"Every member supported the Centre's proposals, which are in the interest of people," Uttar Pradesh finance minister Suresh Khanna said, adding that there was a demand that states be compensated for revenue losses.

Bhattacharya said since in the current GST laws limits the tax rate to maximum 40%, some mechanism has to be worked out to ensure that the current tax incidence (including compensation cess) on sin and luxury goods is retained even after the proposed removal of the cess by November.

"Besides sin goods, the tax incidence on high-end luxury cars now is as high as 48% including cess. So, the revenue implications are too high to let go of the tax incidence even on these luxury cars," said Rahul Renavikar, managing director, Acuris Advisors.

Besides Chaudhary, Bhattacharya and Khanna, the six-member GoM also includes Kerala finance minister K N Balagopal, Karnataka revenue minister Krishna Byre Gowda and Rajasthan medical and health minister Gajendra Singh.

tobacco, cigarettes and pan masala – varies widely – from 60-80% in some cases to as high as around 160-200% for items like gutka.

Telangana and Punjab have also sought compensation for losses due to the proposed GST reforms.

"Besides sin goods, the tax incidence on high-end luxury cars now is as high as 48% including cess. So, the revenue implications are too high to let go of the tax incidence even on these luxury cars," said Rahul Renavikar, managing director, Acuris Advisors.

Besides Chaudhary, Bhattacharya and Khanna, the six-member GoM also includes Kerala finance minister K N Balagopal, Karnataka revenue minister Krishna Byre Gowda and Rajasthan medical and health minister Gajendra Singh.

PMI data show business activity at 20-year high

THE READING HAS remained above the 50-mark, which separates growth from contraction, for the 49th month.

Record expansion was underpinned by the sharpest uptick in total new orders – a key gauge of demand – in nearly 18 years.

The latest results stand in contrast to expectations for a slowdown in economic growth in Asia's third-largest economy to average 6.4% this fiscal after an unexpectedly strong 7.4% expansion during the first three months of 2025.

The services sector led growth, with its activity index soaring to a survey high of 65.6. The manufacturing sector also showed significant strength – its preliminary PMI rose to 59.8, its highest reading since January 2008.

While that boosted job creation, the survey also showed companies passing on increases in input costs to customers. The output price index increased to an over 12-year high of 55.8 from 53.5 in July.

That also contradicts the recent trend of easing inflation in official data, which dropped to an eight-year low of 1.55% last month.

The Reserve Bank of India, which targets inflation in a 2-6% range, started cutting interest rates early this year to stimulate the economy and paused at the latest meeting but is expected to cut again next quarter.

Firms remained optimistic, with sentiment for the year ahead strengthening to its highest since March.

Stage set for longer tenure F&Os to curb retail frenzy likely to lose interest because the waiting period will be longer. This will help the cash market – an important objective of the regulator.

The regulator is aiming to tighten the excessive speculation in the derivatives market. Its recent studies have indicated that more than 90% retail investors continue to incur significant losses.

"Improving the tenure really means whether we can have more longer-term derivatives. Qualitatively, we have to see but we have to calibrate it. My statement says in a calibrated manner. This is only in-principle we're stating, on what we should be doing," Pandey said.

EARLIER THIS WEEK, BSE MD & CEO Sundaramurthy told FE, "We feel that we need to educate market participants on the importance of monthly products and their benefits for arbitrage or hedging. So, we are in the process of doing so. At some point, this will have its impact."

However, all brokerages are not very happy with the markets regulator's push. "The wording was strong. We are going back in time, when 10 years back there were only monthly expiries. To control speculation, there were other tools like increasing the lot size and greater net-worth criteria. Some markets have daily expiries. It makes hedging more efficient and provides higher liquidity," said the chief executive (CEO) of domestic retail brokerage.

Another market expert added that with the rise in tenure, retail investors who have taken fancy to such products are
